A Pioneer League Baseball Writers' Association was formed, with Al Warden, Ogden Standard-Examiner, as president; Frank K. Baker, Salt Lake Telegram, and Herb Gordon, Idaho Falls Post-Register, as vice-presidents, and Lee Russell, Boise Statesman, as secretary-treasurer. The association will meet twice a year and award a trophy to the Pioneer player the members select by vote as the most valuable.

Boise to Do Most Traveling

Clubs of the Pioneer League will travel a total of 41,570 miles during the 1941 season.

Boise gets nine Sunday dates, two holiday dates, and will travel 8,890 miles; Twin Falls is down for nine Sunday dates, one holiday date and will travel 6,140 miles; Pocatello is allotted nine Sunday dates, one holiday, and will travel 6,020 miles; Idaho Falls gets ten Sunday dates, two holidays and is down for 6,760 miles of travel; Ogden, ten Sundays, one holiday and will travel 6,560 miles; Salt Lake Bees, ten Sundays, two holidays and will cover 7,200 miles.

President Halliwell announced the following scorers for 1941: Ogden, Al Warden; Salt Lake, Marlowe Branan, Frank K. Baker and Les Goates; Idaho Falls, W. E. Shohoney; Pocatello, Ernie Stites; Twin Falls, Hal Wood, and Boise, Lee Russell.

Two umpires from the Northern League, Gene Allinger and Russell Welch, have been signed for 1941. The following umpers are held over: Tom McQuillan, Archie Campbell, Al Drolette, Hughie Day, Henry McShane and F. H. McDonald.

With the exception of Pocatello, all clubs have named managers, as follows: Ogden, Bill McCorry; Salt Lake, Tony Robello; Idaho Falls, Bobby Coltrin; Twin Falls, Andy Harrington, and Boise, Jim Keesey.

we have to include both Lewis and Travis in our plans. They hit too well."

That would seem to relegate Shortstop Jimmy Pofahl, who cost Prexy Clark Griffith a reported $40,000 last season, to a utility role, although Harris reports Jimmy will be given a chance at a regular job.

The second baseman will be Jimmy Bloodworth, says Harris, with the mellowing Buddy Myer ready to step in should Bloodworth falter.

Johnny Welaj and the veteran Sammy West will be retained to relieve Cramer, Case and Chapman in the outfield.

"The others (who are Joe Mellendick, Jim Mallory and Elmer Gedeon) have a chance, but hardly this year," continued Harris. "I'm hanging on to West and Myer because they're good insurance to have on the club."

Bucky dismisses lightly the departure of Joe Krakauskas, Joe Haynes and Rene Monteagudo from the pitching staff. "They'd never take us anywhere," says Harris, "so we're no worse off than last year. I don't like to start the season with so few men, though, and I've written Griff to try to swing a deal for a capable hurler."

"If we don't get something new by the trade route, we'll just have to put some pressure on some of our better prospects. I don't hope to come up with another Sid Hudson, but maybe we can hurry a couple of fair future mound bets along a little."

"Alex Zukowski won 22 games and lost 14 for Greenville in the Sally League and anybody who can win 22 games for the kind of club Greenville had must be pretty good."

"The Browns are still after Rick Ferrell," admits Harris, "but they aren't offering much. We'd swap if the terms were right and take a chance on Al Evans or Jake Early coming through for us."

brought in by purchase, and on whom waivers must be asked before sending them out to toil in the minors again. Of course, one would hardly expect to find an agreement between officials of the Browns and Cardinals. One club is up, the other is down and neighbors of that kind seldom agree—much less on K. M.'s edicts.

President Don Barnes of the Browns reckons that Landis has done a noble thing.

Sam Breadon, the Cardinal factotum, senses pernicious socialism.

But before proceeding, it might be well to explain in our feeble way what it's all about. Landis has decreed that players purchased after August 15 and before the draft deadline are, in effect, being covered up by being brought in, only to be sent out again.

Must Run Waiver Gauntlet

As a result of this suspicion, he has ruled that any of these players, about to be returned to the minors, must pass the full muster of waivers not earlier than April 1. More than that, the commissioner has decreed that if a club claims one of these purchased players, he must go to the claiming club at the draft price in effect in the particular league from which he came, if waivers are not withdrawn.

This means that a lad purchased from, say, San Francisco, who had become draft-eligible in Class AA, because of four years of O. B. service, for $30,000, would go to a claiming club for $7,500, the Double A draft price, if surrendered on waivers. It means that the Phillies, the Athletics, or any major club, could claim a $30,000 athlete for $7,500, providing the club which had bought his contract figured he wasn't quite ready and that another year in AA would equip him for the real thing.

Well, let's not get too technical. That's for Breadon, Barnes and the big shots to worry about.

But here are a few facts, which may
